

Fox Terrier

Classification:

There are 15 type of Fox Terrier. Bedlington Terrier, Border Terrier, Bull terrier, Cairn Terrier, Fox Terrier, Irish Terrier, Lakeland Terrier, Kerry Blue Terrier, Welsh Terrier, Scottish Terrier, Skye Terrier, Yorkshire Terrier, West highland Terrier, Manchester Terrier and White West Highland Terrier.

This dog's breeds were recognized to help in fox hunting. Before their progress, a hunt would be ruined as soon as the fox reached its hole. The introduction of Fox Terriers into the hunting party solved the problem. If the fox "went to ground" (reached and entered its home), the terrier would be sent in after it. This identified the major food for a Fox Terrier. Firstly, it had to have the energy to run with the Foxhounds. Secondly, it had to be small enough to follow a fox down its lair. And thirdly, it had to be tough, as a cornered fox was likely to turn and try to fight off an intruder, so a foxy had to be able to stand up to it.

The Fox Terrier's nick name is Foxy.

BY CARLA

